

Abstract

A connecting element (1) connects a piston (2) with a restoring element (6) for a radial piston pump. The piston (2) is displaceably mounted in a cylinder (4) and can be restored from an upper dead-centre position by means of the restoring element (6). The connecting element (1) is connected to the piston (2) in a positive fit.